City Deal's masterplan for A1307

PLANS for a new park and ride to help solve problems for Haverhill commuters trying to access Cambridge and its burgeoning south-eastern biotech cluster have moved a step closer.

The new transport hub is part of a package of 'preferred' improvements, which include a new on-road bus route along the A1307, according to a newly published City Deal consultation report.

Measures are also planned to improve walking and cycling routes on the notoriously dangerous road.

The report, published on Monday, details the findings from a public consultation held last year.

It highlights a growth in the number of commuters from new housing developments in border towns like Haverhill and outlying South Cambridgeshire villages, such as Linton, into Addenbrooke's Hospital and Cambridge's science and research parks as necessary reasons for improvement.

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach\_mc94CN

"By providing significant improvements, particularly reliability, for journeys by sustainable transport modes to these key employment sites, the emerging preferred options for the A1307 will directly deliver on the overarching vision of the Greater Cambridge City Deal – to secure sustainable growth and quality of life for the people of Cambridge and South Cambridgeshire," the report states.

The new park and ride would be on the A11, with Four Went-ways earmarked as the potential new site, though it is not clear whether it would operate as a guided bus way point like others in the city.

South Cambridgeshire district councillor Henry Batchelor said that the new park and ride may prove to be ineffective as commuters from border towns, like Haverhill, will have already driven half way to Cambridge by the time they get there, meaning the A1307 will still prove busy at commuting times.

According to the report, the new park and ride could generate another 33-36 per cent usage of park and rides in and around the city. A total of 66 per cent of the 1,489 respondents were in favour of a new park and ride.

TIDY UP: Volunteers planting saplings in the meadow

Volunteers help clean up meadow

A GROUP of local volunteers along with members of the Dedham Vale and Stour Valley Project have helped to clean up the Great Meadow at Kedington.

The woodland footpath
in the meadow which runs along the River Stour was the focus of yesterday's clean up.

The army of volunteers checked previously planted trees and shrubs and tidied the clearings and ditches in order to keep the path and surrounding area pristine for those who want to enjoy it.

The event also involved volunteers planting new trees and shrubs along the route.

A spokesperson said the project's main aim is to conserve and enhance the special qualities of the Stour Valley.

Two hurt after dog attacks

TWO people have been injured after two dog attacks in one night.

Police were called on Saturday night after a teenage boy was chased by a group of eight or nine men on the recreation ground in Haverhill.

The men had a white Staffordshire bull terrier-type dog which bit the boy, who was in his late teens, on the leg.

The recreation ground
was the scene of another

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

dog attack around the same time.

A man in his late 20s was bitten on the leg and reportedly assaulted by a group of several youths.

The man needed hospital treatment following the attack for both the dog bite and minor injuries sustained in the assault.

Police would like to speaking to anyone who may have seen a group of men with a dog on the recreation ground at the time of the incidents, or who may have information that could assist with them with their inquiries.

GREAT FIRE: Pupils with their blazing Tudor houses

History in action for youngsters

PUPILS created their version of the 1666 Great Fire of London to celebrate the end of their project on the topic. Year Two pupils at Clements Primary School in Haverhill researched, designed and made their own Tudor houses as part of the re-creation. Lily, 6, said: "I learned that the fire spread quickly because the houses were built too closely together and the embers could flick onto the next house." Haverhill Fire Service helped the pupils to re-create the fire so that they could see first hand how quickly the flames would have spread.

The fire service was also there to make sure that this fire was perfectly under control. Clare Skinner, the class teacher, said: "We would like to say thank you to the Haverhill Fire Service for their help." The school also re-created the fire two years ago with past Year Two pupils.

Police hunt for hooded attackers

POLICE are hunting hooded attackers who robbed two teenagers in the street.

A boy was struck in the face during the robbery which happened at 3.30am on Sunday.

The boy and a teenage girl along with two other men in their 20s and 30s were walking along Hardwick Road in Haverhill when they were approached by several young men and ordered to hand over everything in their pockets.

Police described the suspects as being about 17 to 21, between 5ft 8in and 6ft tall and of slim, athletic build.

All are thought to have been wearing tracksuits and hoods.

A wallet was stolen during the incident and the suspects ran off towards the old railway line.

Witnesses or anyone with information related to the incident are asked to contact Suffolk Police on 101 quoting reference 18470/17.

SOCIAL CARE

Toddler's death leads to change

THE DEATH of a 17-month-old toddler last year has led to changes in 'early help' support services in Suffolk.

Following an independent report on the death of Baby E, Suffolk Local Safeguarding Children's Board will now oversee leadership, management and supervision of 'early help' for families.

'Early help' services provide support to families and highlight any concern for a child's welfare before child protection services get involved.

Suffolk's Local Safeguarding Children's Board, which commissioned the independent report, has decided that more support is needed across all 'early help' agencies.

The report said that while there had been evidence of good communication and practice among the team looking after Baby E, there were still key lessons to be learned.

Sue Hadley, the independent chairwoman of the safeguarding board, said: "A key learning from this report is that the leadership, management and supervision of 'early help' cases has to be enhanced to ensure practitioners see all the issues.

@rach_mc94CN

"For example, the behaviour of the adult family members and the impact of this on the effectiveness of the work was not fully recognised and analysed.

"In addition, confusion about who was co-ordinating the plan was added to this lack of oversight and in effect no one was clearly leading multi-agency 'early help' plan and process."

The report also recommended that it is essential that staff in all partner agencies have access to a 'coherent framework to support them to work effectively with families' which would give 'early help' services the same importance as child protection systems.

Speaking specifically about the Baby E case, Ms Hadley said: "In the management of neglect cases the rationale for professional judgements should be clear, based on research and evidence based practice.

"In Baby E's case it is noticeable that there was a lack of the use of any screening or risk assessment tools which would provide a far stronger evidence based analysis of either parent's capacity to care safely and well for Baby E and to put his needs first."

She added: "We have to see assertive, confident practice as the norm including as the report sets out a revised and better understood neglect strategy in order that any similar cases to Baby E that need additional input are effectively identified."

An updated neglect strategy and assessment for practitioners has been finalised and the board says it hoped to see individual agencies put the plans in place by March.

Taster sessions for teenagers

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

A PROJECT to improve the lives of young people is set to start its second year.

The Junior Signpost project, run by One Haverhill, targets young, anxious and vulnerable 14-18 year olds and aims to improve their chances of developing into 'confident, emotionally balanced young people'.

The 12-week programme starts on March 2 with different taster sessions available each week.

Local agencies and schools identify children they feel may benefit and then refer them to the project.

Karen Chapple, youth skills manager at One Haverhill, said: "We have had some positive results from our groups and feel our sessions have made a difference to the individuals that have attended."

The sessions this year will include a golf taster, gym

MAKING A DIFFERENCE: Karen Chapple

workshop, chocolate making for Easter, archery and flower arranging for Mother's Day.

Ms Chapple said: "We hope to encourage new interests and build confidence in young people."

Counsellors are also present during the programme to provide specialist help if the youngsters need it.

It is also hoped that these counsellors will help to encourage group chats about emotions.

An Adult Signpost course has been running for just over a year and One Haverhill hopes that combined sessions could work together to improve each others' lives.

The sessions are free, being funded by One Haverhill, and will be run from the Leisure Centre in Haverhill every Thursday afternoon from 3.30pm to 5pm from March 2.

For more information contact Karen Chapple on 07877142000 or email Youth-skillsmanager@onehaverhill.co.uk

Help for children in Africa

HAVERHILL and District Rotary Club has started the year with several charity donations.

The group supported the Little Angels Project in Cape Town, South Africa, which provides for under-privileged children by sending clothing and other items as well as fund raising to help start a building project.

Members raised £275 to cover the cost of a container with the first set of donations which is currently en-route.

The club also donated a chair to the Combined Halls of Clare to replace chairs in the Old School community hall, used by members of the Clare day centre.

On Friday, March 10, Rotarians will be holding their annual charity quiz at Haverhill Golf Club starting at 7.30pm.

Plans should ease commuting time

From front page

The report also proposes keeping and improving the Babraham park and ride site, by giving it a new segregated bus route to Cambridge Biomedical Campus at Addenbrooke's Hospital, to meet the high commuter needs, which could result in an increase of 10 buses per hour going westbound into Cambridge.

The exact nature of that bus route, whether on an existing road or a new one, has not been decided.

However, the planners say any new route "would be kept within the bounds of the public highway", and would not have any impact on the historic landscape of the Gog Magog hills.

Other preferred options listed in the report were: new or improved cycleways between Babraham and Great Abington and the research parks; bus and pedestrian improvements at Linton, and road safety enhancements between Linton and Horseheath.

A total of 83 per cent of respondents supported or strongly supported the idea of improving the bus, cycling and walking links in the A1307 area.

The report also restated that reopening the Haverhill to Cambridge railway line was not a feasible solution.

The report will be presented to the City Deal Assembly on March 1 and to the executive board on March 8.

A more extensive public consultation is proposed for this summer.

Proposals 'badly thought out'

PROPOSALS to improve the A1307 were rejected at a meeting of the first local liaison forum on Monday night.

The local liaison forums have been set up by the Cambridge City Deal as part of its plans to consult on planned improvements.

But the 15 members of the forum, including district and county councillors, scrutinising the plans in Linton on Monday were unimpressed by the detail.

Writing on Twitter, Cambridgeshire county councillor Roger Hickford said that the Linton forum, the first one to be held, rejected the proposal and told City Deal officers "to think again".

Cllr Henry Batchelor, who attended the forum, said: "There was a feeling that these proposals were not well thought out or presented."

"After a fairly long discussion the forum voted to recommend the officers go back to the drawing board and start afresh and scrap the plans to take them to the executive in March."

Concern about the lack of consultation across county borders was also raised.

Grateful family raises money for charities

THANKFUL grandparents have raised more than £2,000 for charity.

Paul Wills and Jan Palmer decided to split the money evenly between the Rosie at Addenbrooke's and Cancer Research.

The couple's daughter Jodie had a difficult pregnancy last year and had to have an emergency C-section at 35 weeks.

The family chose the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU) because of the great care Jodie received.

Mr Wills said: "Thankfully baby Elodie Nancy Savage was born healthy and with the dedicated staff in NICU and the Rosie both Jodie and Elodie were well and were home in no time."

New minister for church

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

HAVERHILL Methodist Church has appointed a new minister after going seven months without one.

The church on Camps Road has welcomed the Rev Peter Goodhall who has transferred from Braintree in Essex where he served in three local churches.

The Rev Goodhall said, after arriving in Haverhill: "I have found people very welcoming and friendly."

"I am looking forward to getting to know the community and church in Haverhill."

The Rev Goodhall who has been a minister for 17 years, relocated with his wife, Jo, and two children, James, 15, and Sally, 11.

He officially started in the post on February 20.

A welcome service was held last Sunday afternoon at the church for the minister and his family.

The service was attended by members of the congregation, representatives from different churches in the town and the Haverhill mayor David Roach and his wife.

Kathy Cohen, circuit steward and communications team leader, said: "We are really looking forward to working with Peter, serving the community and moving forward as God guides us."

MEMORIAL

NEW STATUS: Haverhill's war memorial has been made a Grade II listed building

Listing for war memorial

HAVERHILL'S War Memorial has been given Grade II listed building status.

The memorial on Withersfield Road has been part of the town since 1920 and honours the fallen men of Haverhill from both world wars.

In its recommendation report Historic England said: "Haverhill War Memorial is an elegant and ornate example of the Latin cross type of war memorial, with intricate carved details.

"The memorial has a distinctive architectural quality and serves as a striking and evocative memorial to the fallen local men."

There is also a panel on the memorial dedicated to 42 commonwealth and allied nation soldiers who are buried in Haverhill Cemetery.

The surrounding paved design and low stone surrounding walls are also included in the listing.

CRIME

Two arrested after stabbings

TWO men have been arrested following an incident in which two people were stabbed last week.

A 26-year-old man from Haverhill was arrested on suspicion of possession of a controlled drug.

He has been released on bail until March 13 when he has to report to Bury St Edmunds police investigation centre.

Another man aged 29, also from Haverhill, has been arrested on suspicion of possession with intent to supply.

He has also been released on bail, before reporting to the Bury investigation centre on April 4.

The arrests follow an incident last week when two men were treated at Addenbrooke's hospital for serious stab wounds.

Haverhill police were alerted by Cambridgeshire police to reports of two people with stab wounds at Addenbrooke's hospital. They attended the scene at the time but found no sign of anyone involved.

The two injured men are still receiving hospital treatment for their injuries

Children with needs 'let down'

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

CHILDREN in Suffolk with special needs and disabilities are being failed by the system, says a new report.

According to a joint report from Ofsted and the Care Quality Commission, completed in December, children and parents in Suffolk are losing out due to a system that is confusing, slow and inefficient.

In their report Ofsted and the CQC highlighted delays in referral, assessment, diagnosis and gaps in service provision.

The report said: "Too many (parents) feel that they are driven to crisis point before additional support and advice are identified and put in place for them and their children."

The report also pointed to specific failures to provide advice, support and provision to those with autism and mental health difficulties, and those needing speech and language therapy and occupational therapy.

Problems were also found in the quality and accessibility of information for carers and parents because of poor communication.

A survey last October carried out by the Suffolk Parent Carer Network (SPCN), which worked with Ofsted and the CQC, found similar results, adding that some parents and carers opted to go for private care instead of waiting.

In response to the Ofsted report, the SPCN said the results would come as no surprise to families.

It said: "The reality is that the lived experience of too many families is one of fighting to get their voices heard when trying to get the help and support their child or young person needs, and often being unable to access services or being passed from one agency to another with no resolution."

Respondents to the SPCN report were anonymous but one said: "They refuse to work together but would rather cause more distress to families by passing them round and round the system with no accountability or responsibility whilst the child suffers."

The Ofsted and CQC report acknowledged that Suffolk County Council and the Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) recognised the problems during the inspection.

In a joint statement, Suffolk County Council and Suffolk's CCGs confirmed they were aware of some of the failings before the Ofsted report and agreed with the findings.

They said transforming these services would be a priority having now appointed designated clinical officers for special education needs.

They said they were already working together with the SPCN to introduce a number of changes to education and social care.

New look benefits charity

A NEW job has prompted a man to donate his hair to a children's cancer charity.

John Conrad recently got a job as a security guard and his long locks had to go as a result.

He said: "I have known people affected by cancer and lost some people as well and with it the fear that very close family members are in the 'at risk category' because of genetic traits, which include my half sister."

"If donating means that it brings a smile to someone, it's worth it."

John, who has been growing his hair for more than two years, chose to send it off to the Little Princess Trust, a cancer charity for children which provides them with real hair wigs when they lose their's during treatment.

Quality work from Country Gardens & Landscapes

ADVERTISING FEATURE

OVER the past 11 years, Country Gardens & Landscapes has built a reputation as one of the finest landscaping companies in Suffolk.

Based in Haverhill, the team can travel to all homes within a thirty mile radius to provide a full landscaping service. From block paving a driveway and fitting a patio, to more general garden maintenance tasks, no job is too big or small. Their work is of such a high standard, two of their projects have even managed to make it in to the prestigious Gardeners World magazine!

The company was established back in 2006 by company director Alex Colman. Alex is one of the region's leading landscaping experts, having previously worked as the Head gardener at a Five Hundred acre private country estate in Essex, as well as working in the maintenance and Forestry department helping repair and renovate the house, gardens and woodland. This set of skills is definitive proof that your garden is in safe hands with the Country Gardens & Landscapes team.

COUNTRY GARDENS & LANDSCAPES: With Nick Colman

With the team's fantastic attention to detail and countless successful completed projects behind them, satisfaction is definitely guaranteed.

Comic book writer aim to crowd-fund new story

A WRITER from Haverhill is crowd-funding for a new comic book.

This will be Mark Allard's second comic and he is hoping that fund-raising will provide the best possible result for fans.

Mark, who left the town three years ago, says this comic is going to be very different from the last one.

He said: "It has elements from 80s and 90s family adventure movies, like a really fun story being told in comic book form."

The story focuses on Axe Man, a character from a now defunct video game.

Axe Man longs for the day when the dust will be wiped away and the adventures will start again but Mark says this is very much a 'be careful what you wish for tale'.

Axe Man gets the action he's craving for but only after a storm of pixels starts to invade his world and he then has to find a way to stop them.

Mark writes the comic book and his partner Elaine is the artist.

According to Mark, working with his partner is one of the most fun elements of his job.

@rach_mc94CN

He said: "It makes it a lot easier, we have the same aims and goals. It's fun just talking about what we want to achieve with a story."

Mark says that the fans of his last comic have become like a close circle of friends and have helped inspire him to write another.

He said: "The response has really been quite humbling. It's a really close-knit community, you are also building up friends and a little family that follows you round."

The couple, who live in Saskatchewan in Canada, hope that crowd-funding will help them achieve a big show debut at the Toronto Comic Arts Festival on May 13 and 14 this year.

The go fund me page goes live on March 1 and to make a contribution go to www.gofundme.com/ArkadeComic

CRIME

Vehicle crashes into cars in street

A MAN has been arrested after a vehicle crashed into four parked cars in a Haverhill street.

Police were called just before midnight on Saturday to reports of a collision on Burton End Road.

Residents took to social media following the crash to report hearing loud bangs during the night.

Police found a 27-year-old man at the scene and arrested him.

The Cambridgeshire man was arrested in connection with taking a vehicle without consent and for failing to provide a breath test.

Damage was caused to the four cars, a Vauxhall Astra, Toyota Celica, Mazda and Ford Focus.

The man has been bailed, pending further inquiries, and is to report to Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre on April 4.

ON STAGE: Ian Shaw will be putting on a jazz extravaganza

If you remember such classics as Cathy's Clown, Walk Right Back, Walk Right Back and Wake Up Little Suzie then the next show at Haverhill Arts Centre should be a no-brainer.

The Everly Brothers and Friends Tribute Show sees brothers Steve and Colin Temple recreate the tunes of one of the greatest harmony duos ever, even down to performing in the original keys.

And if that wasn't treat enough, tomorrow's show at 7.30pm also includes special guest tributes to Hank Marvin, Buddy Holly and Jerry Lee Lewis.

■ Ian Shaw, one of the best-known jazz vocalists around joins forces with the ever popular Hannah Horton at the All That Jazz Club on Saturday, February 25. Twice winner of the BBC Jazz Awards Best Vocalist, Ian has amassed a number of highly acclaimed albums and collaborated with such luminaries as Quincy Jones, Barb Jungr, Cleo Laine and John Dankworth.

■ One of the august names of Radio 4 is performing at the arts centre on Friday, March 3. Barry Cryer will be with his play-mate from I'm Sorry I Haven't a Clue, Colin Sell (the lovely Samantha unfortunately had a prior engagement). In their show Strictly Come Joking Colin and Barry describe themselves as the Ant n Dec of the Sanatogen set. The script, which they made up by themselves, combines jokes and songs along with the amazing realisation that they are both still here to tell and sing them.

■ Saturday, March 4, sees the return of the ever-popular UB40 tribute, Rats in the Kitchen. So popular in fact, that tickets are sold out. They are sure to be back so, if you missed out this time, watch out on the arts centre's website and Facebook page for the announcement so you can buy your tickets early.

■ The arts centre has Martin Carthy and John Kirkpatrick, two leading figures from the folk-scene on Monday, March 6. Martin and John will be known from their days in Steeleye Span, The Albion Band and Brass Monkey and Martin for his more recent collaborations with artists such as Dave Swarbrick; his wife Norma Waterson and his daughter Eliza Carthy. Go and see the old friends at 7.30pm.

■ Ruth Wilson, perhaps best known for her turn as Jane Eyre in the BBC drama, stars as the titular character in Ibsen's play Hedda Gabler on Tuesday, March 9. Hedda is not happy. She's just returned from honeymoon and is already suffering from 'buyer's remorse'. Trapped in her marriage she starts to try and control those around her – and it doesn't go well. This live broadcast from the National Theatre starts at 7pm.

■ The Hollywood offerings this week are Jackie and La La Land. The arts centre also has Manchester by the Sea but that film is probably too gritty to qualify as 'Hollywood'. La La Land the film tells the (musical) story of a couple trying to make it big in La La Land the place, but is the spotlight more important than true love? Find out on Monday, February 27, or Wednesday, March 1, at 7.30pm. Jackie (Tuesday, March 7, 7.30pm) is a portrait of one of the most important moments in American history, seen through the eyes of the iconic First Lady, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy. Following her husband's assassination this is a psychological study of the First Lady as she struggles to maintain her husband's legacy. She also wears masses of fabulous clothes. The wardrobe budget was considerably less for Manchester by the Sea. Lee, the main character, works as a handyman for a Boston apartment block. One day he gets a call, his brother has suddenly died, and he's been named guardian to his 16-year-old nephew. See it on Tuesday, February 28, at 7.30pm.

■ Coming soon, Centre Stage's latest Allo, 'Allo, Wednesday, March 15 to Saturday, March 18 and Mud Morganfield, son of the legendary Muddy Waters on Friday, March 24.

E-Class: Two new stonkers

DUE IN GENEVA: Additional E 63 options

MERCEDES-AMG has chosen next month's Geneva Motor Show to reveal two new versions of its E-Class line-up in the shape of the high performance E 63 4MATIC+ Estate and E 63 S 4MATIC+ Estate.

The UK release will be early April, with first deliveries expected to arrive in August. Exact UK specification and price is still to be confirmed.

Mercedes claims the estate offers more agile response than its predecessor. It comes with a new AMG multi clutch technology 9-speed sports transmission combined with a wet clutch. The new 4MATIC+ all-wheel-drive system ensures optimum traction in all road conditions.

The power for the new estates comes from the AMG 4.0-litre twin-turbo V8 which gives them a peak output of 612bhp with S version able to sprint from 0 to 62mph in 3.5 seconds, and the E 63 4MATIC+ in 3.6 seconds with CO2 emissions coming in at 206g/km.

Not indicating is just so irritating

NOT indicating clearly has been revealed as the UK's most inconsiderate driving behaviour.

An RAC Insurance poll of more than 2,100 motorists found that 58 per cent of respondents named other motorists not signalling clearly, or at all, as their number one inconsiderate trait.

A further 56 per cent cited middle-lane hogging as the most inconsiderate action, while driving too close to the car in front was voted for by 51 per cent.

RAC Insurance spokesman Simon Williams said: "There are a variety of behaviours at the wheel that motorists class as being inconsiderate, most of which involve deliberate acts which are blatantly thoughtless, but the top answer of 'not indicating clearly' is probably more due to misunderstanding or forgetfulness.

"The confusion that it can cause is no doubt responsible for, at worst, accidents and at best, needless wasted seconds of waiting only to find out the driver wasn't really going where you thought they were.

"The biggest example of 'indicator confusion' has to be at roundabouts. There seem to be different schools of thought on how to signal at roundabout and very few that follow the rules set out in Rule 186 of the Highway Code. If more of us were to follow the indicating rules, there would probably be fewer bumps at roundabouts."

MCLAREN: Ambitious plans

McLaren's new £50m tech centre on way

MCLAREN is set to build a new chassis manufacturing and development facility that will be based close to the University of Sheffield's Advanced Manufacturing Research Centre.

The new Composites Technology Centre will be built with support from Sheffield City Council and the AMRC through a combined investment of £50 million, and is tipped to create 200 new jobs.

It will form the base from which McLaren develops and manufactures its Monocell and Monocage carbon-fibre chassis for future cars. Advanced automated manufacturing techniques developed with the AMRC will be used to build the next-generation Monocell.

Used car sales hit record high

SALES of second-hand cars in the UK reached a record high last year.

The Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) said 8.2 million used cars were sold in 2016, up 7.3 per cent on the previous year.

The industry body claimed there is "no reason" why demand should drop off in 2017 as long as the "economic conditions remain stable".

Petrol cars were the most popular with more than 4.6 million traded, up 4.7 per cent, although their market share fell by 1.5 per cent.

The shift in new car sales to diesel over the past decade was reflected with demand for second-hand diesel cars up 11.1 per cent.

Used alternatively-fuelled vehicle sales rose 32.5 per cent.

The Ford Fiesta was the biggest selling model overall, followed by the Ford Focus and Vauxhall Corsa.

Figures released in January show that new car sales also reached an all-time high last year at 2.69 million.

SMMT chief executive Mike Hawes

ON THE FORECOURT: Used sales last year totalled 8.2 million said: "On the back of a record 2016 for UK new car registrations, it's further good news that our used car market is in such good health.

"Strong demand is testament to the quality, reliability and appeal of cars on sale today, with used buyers enjoying more choice, more low emission, safety and connected technology than ever.

"Providing economic conditions remain stable and interest rates low, there's no reason why we shouldn't see growth in this sector continue in 2017."

BOOSTED: Skoda Yeti

Yeti: Two new specs

SKODA has updated the Yeti SUV with the addition of two new trim levels. Dubbed SE Drive and SE L Drive, the newcomers sit above the mid-spec SE and top-of-the-range SE L trims respectively.

According to the Czech manufacturer, both models add thousands of pounds' worth of extra equipment for three-figure price increases.

The SE Drive offers satellite navigation, digital radio, an auto-dimming rear-view mirror, heated seats, a heated windscreen and front parking sensors, in addition to the standard SE's climate control, rear parking sensors and Bluetooth phone connectivity.

Skoda says the extra kit is worth an extra £2,295, yet with a starting price of £20,095, the car is only £935 more expensive than the SE.

Vindis Skoda Cambridge is on (01223) 660171.

V12 STUNNER: The 812 Superfast

The 812 Superfast is Ferrari's fastest yet

FERRARI has selected the 87th edition of the Geneva International Motor Show for the world premiere of the new 12-cylinder berlinetta, the 812 Superfast, the most powerful and fastest Ferrari in the marque's history.

This new car not only introduces a plethora of innovative features but is also particularly significant as the V12 series marked the official start of the glorious Prancing Horse story in 1947, 70 years ago this year.

The 812 Superfast thus ushers in a new era in Ferrari 12-cylinder history, in doing so building on the invaluable legacies of the F12berlinetta and F12tdf. Powered by a new 6.5-litre V12 engine that unleashes 800 cv, the 812 Superfast will be the new benchmark in the mid-front-engined sports car segment.

Funding for on-street twin electric chargers

ELECTRIC car owners and prospective buyers could benefit from a charger being installed in their street thanks to a new £2.5 million scheme.

Local authorities across the UK are being given access to £2.5 million to put public electric car chargers exactly where people need them – near their homes.

Residents who want a twin chargepoint installed in their street will have to ask their local authority to take up their case, with funding then allocated on a first-come first-served basis.

Poppy Welch, head of Go Ultra Low, said: "The growing demand for electric vehicles justifies greater on-street charging infrastructure and for EV owners that do not have access to off street charging, this public infrastructure is vital. 2016 marked a record year for plug-in registrations with more motorists than ever making the switch to electric."

"Annual uptake rose 29 per cent and we expect this strong growth to continue, so welcome all investments made in the national charging infrastructure. While Go Ultra Low research shows more than 90 per cent of charging is done at home, there are already more than 11,000 publically accessible chargepoints around the country, so this growing national network provides a useful additional option to motorists."

ELECTRIC OPTION: Ask about having your own charge point at home

Andrew Benfield, group director for Transport at the Energy Saving Trust, said: "The On-street Residential Chargepoint Scheme is a fantastic scheme to encourage electric car ownership, especially those who don't have a garage or driveway and cannot have a private charger installed.

"There are more than 80,000 plug-in electric cars on UK roads now, and with fuel prices on the rise, this number is set to grow. However, not everyone can install a charger at home because they don't have a garage or driveway, or perhaps live in a flat. This infrastructure is vital to help people make better choices about the car they drive and to do so without any difficulty."

We're so tall, say designers!

MICRA: Class-leading interior space

EUROPEANS are getting taller, with the Netherlands and the Scandinavian countries now officially among the biggest in the world. The average Dutch man today is 182.5 cm – exactly six feet tall. But not everyone is so 'elevated', as an average woman from Greece is only 160cm.

Such diversity presented a fascinating challenge to Nissan engineers developing the new Micra. Not only did they have to create a vehicle interior that would provide outstanding comfort for drivers and passengers of all heights, but do it in a supermini with an exterior length of only 3,999mm.

The team at Nissan's European Technical Centre (NTCE) – at Cranfield, UK – was clearly up to the challenge. The new Micra has class-leading interior space for front seat occupants, due in part to an innovative 'made to measure' approach.

The Micra's ergonomic interior has also boosted its safety credentials. The new Nissan Micra is available to order now.

Youngsters enjoy Matchday Experience

CUP SUCCESS: Haverhill Rovers under-12s celebrate winning the Dejavu Matchday Experience Cup

A CROWD of more than 200 people watched Haverhill Rovers under-11 Blues take on Haverhill Rovers under-12s for the Dejavu Matchday Experience Cup.

The attendance set a record for a youth match at New Croft, and the encounter lived up to the billing with an entertaining contest played out by the young footballers.

They all impressed on the full size pitch, with both sides displaying good passing and movement, and excellent tackling.

For three quarters of the match, nothing could separate the two sides.

But after a sustained period of pressure from the under-11s, the older

RUNNERS-UP: Haverhill Rovers under-11 Blues team were able to break free on the counter-attack.

There were just eight minutes remaining when Liam Tate advanced deep into the opposition half before firing into the net to give the under-12s a 1-0 lead.

The older team successfully held on to their advantage to run out worthy winners of a close contest.

Gary Dourado, who helped organise the match, thanked Dejavu, HSCA and Xcel for their support.

Rovers lose out as Goddy get some home comfort

HAVERHILL Rovers suffered a surprise 2-0 defeat at Godmanchester Rovers in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division, the hosts' first home win since December 17.

Haverhill were slow to get going and they paid the price as Godmanchester took the lead in the 13th minute, Tom Spark beating last defender Sam Holmes with a neat move and then shooting past keeper Charlie Turner.

The lead was doubled in the 25th minute following a corner. The ball was only cleared to the edge of the penalty area where Joe Furness was able to pick his spot as he curled the ball neatly into the bottom left corner.

Haverhill's best chance came into the first half added time when Will Gardner's free kick was spilled by Godmanchester keeper Evan Jekells. Rory Jebb took the ball around Jekells but his scuffed shot was cleared by a defender before it could cross the line.

The visitors improved after the interval and were the better side in the second half.

Neither side was able to carve out any chances though, and it remained 2-0 at the final whistle.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough continued their excellent form with a 5-0 win at Team Bury.

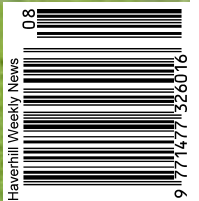

Boro made a strong start, and they took the lead in the 16th minute through Jarid Robson.

The visitors had further chances to score, and the lead was doubled following a corner when Charlie Holmes scored after Errol Durrell's shot had been blocked.

Holmes netted his second on the half hour with a confident finish to make it 3-0, and as the game approached half time, Luke Clark squeezed the ball home after Ryan Swallow's free kick had been headed on by a Bury defender.

Holmes then completed his hat-trick on the hour, and Lee Hurkett almost made it 6-0 when his cross following a corner hit the crossbar.
